

Is the latest claim true, that a Dentist can secretly use both chips and LIQUID RFID to make you like a horse in the park grassing or a monkey in the zoo while on screen all over?

Checking below and more around, if the answer is YES, then one has to be careful as all professions are about to lose their honour. The video in number one below says that there should be no pain during dental cleaning nor should there be bleeding, while these are frequent.

In this world of security panic, diminishing ethics and mutual respect the vulnerable nationalities particularly of the third world are in danger in the hands of all professions specially those who can perform acts of following a person's activities and thoughts since these persons are both least acquainted with the technologies and substances/drugs involved and least protected by laws of particularly the West and can hardly get a legal case through.

"The CrossID patent is a chip-less liquid RFID made of a collection of chemical pigments that are mixed in a certain way. This mixture enables the tag to be associated with target in visible or invisible modes. Under proper physical conditions CrossID will start to function as a unique binary ID. This unique ID contains printable ink only, without the need for electronic parts, chips or any other electric circuits on it. CrossID as it results from those mixtures of pigments, can actually represent an endless diversity of unique printable IDs. Both a different behavior and a different structure of those stain pigments create a unique ID...."

Among greatest violations of human rights and everything the United States stands for is secretly forcing RFID chips into humans without their knowledge or consent as James Walbert and an untold number of American children and adults are experiencing. In the Majestic Picture Productions documentary trailer below, a whistleblower explains how and why he was covertly implanted by a dentist.

The retired Sacramento, California firefighter paramedic whistleblower's filmed testimony reinforces the 4-Part Examiner series, "Secretly forced brain implants," including dentistry involvement in the new wave of criminal activity targeting innocent people of integrity:

"The RFID implantation done without people's consent to any human completely violates everything our government is supposed to be about, what democracy is supposed to be about," says the whistleblower..

"What this RFID technology does is -- it completely stalemates everything."

Highlighted in the 4-Part series is that the covertly forced RFID human implantation is the start of a life of mind control and torture-to-death of Targeted Individuals.

Any man, woman or child can be targeted for what is nothing less than Satanic motives, such as covering up human trafficking, as the whistleblower in the film opposed.
